

FIVE JOIN HOOP HISTORIANS

Basketball coaches Paul Swanson and Raymond Zebro were chosen as new members of the Hoop Historians at the Annual Meeting last month. Swanson was the head coach at Pensacola State College for 12 years and was a Division I college assistant at three other schools. Zebro coached at the junior high, high school and collegiate level and has attended 22 Final Fours. In addition to the two new members, three honorary members were selected: Major League Baseball Hall of Famer Roland Hemond, former UCLA and St. John's head coach Steve Lavin, and ESPN analyst Richie Schueler were elected by a vote of the membership.

NEW OFFICERS ELECTED

Hoop Historians John Mayberry and Dennis Mishko were elected to two-year terms, and Bruce Ziemer was elected to a one-year term by the membership at the Hoop Historians Annual Meeting in San Antonio. The threesome join Ted Reineking and Al Sack on the Hoop Historians Board of Directors.

FIFTY FINAL FOURS

Hoop Historian John Mayberry attended his fiftieth Final Four this year in San Antonio. Coach attended his first Final Four in 1963 when Loyola Chicago won the title. Loyola made their first trip back to the Final Four this year. Congratulations Coach Mayberry on this lifetime achievement.

INAUGURAL TRIVIA CONTEST

The Hoop Historians hosted their first ever Trivia Contest before the semi-final games this year in San Antonio. Three finalists, Ted Reineking, Billy T. Haynes and Brian Burmeister squared off in a classic battle, with Reineking claiming the first prize. Relive the contest's warmup questions, which can be found on-line at:
