Committed to promoting goodwill through basketball

Volume # 129 – January, 2020

This month's edition is another all pictorial issue of the group's recent travels

THAT GUY IS TALL: Hoop Historians Fred Allman, Brian Burmeister, Al Sack and Ted Reineking join the legendary Bill Walton after the UCLA-Notre Dame game in South Bend.

ALOHA: Al and Nancy Sack are watching the UCLA Bruins play in the Maui Jim Maui Invitational.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY: Hoop Historian Darren Sack and son Colton traveled from Austin, Texas to Foxboro, Massachusetts to celebrate Colton's 10th birthday at the New England Patriots-Buffalo Bills football game.

'TIS THE SEASON: Friend of the Hoop Historians Ed Munson celebrates the holidays.

ON THE CALL-PART TWO: Joe Spagnolo (right) is caught by the Game of the Week TV camera before an officiating assignment.

THAT'S THE TICKET: Hoop Historians Chairman of the Board Ted Reineking pulls out a 1971 ticket stub where Seton Hall played Iona in a game he attended. TV analyst Bill Raftery coached the Pirates in that game and Ted had Raftery sign the ticket when Bill announced at a recent game.
